The University of Michigan
LAW LIBRARY

LIBRARIES are ESSENTIAL to lawyers and law
students – a library is a LAWYER'S LABORATORY.

The Michigan Law Library is one of the very best in the world because we provide a unique combination of quiet comfortable study space (law students have to read large quantities of complex material daily); a world-class research collection (to help you learn about any topic or practice specialty, or research international law or the law of any other country); and a superb, highly skilled staff to help you learn to do legal research.

The Law Library serves students and faculty of the Law School, as well as lawyers, judges and scholars from the U.S. and foreign nations. The Library's original quarters have been augmented by an extensive addition that has received architectural awards for its creative use of underground space.

HIGHLIGHTS

PHYSICAL ATTRIBUTES

- Over 200 carrels, many large tables, lightwell seating.
- Limited access, so undergrads do not study in the underground library.
- Large-table study space in the Reading Room, a good place to meet non-law students.
- Long hours, 8 a.m. to midnight in the underground, until 2 a.m. in the Reading Room.

WORLD-CLASS RESEARCH

- A complete collection of U.S. law, with enough copies to meet all needs quickly.
- Legal material from all countries in the world and from intergovernmental organizations such as the European Union, United Nations and Organization of American States.
- Michigan state law and other practice material to support the work of Law School clinics.
- A Web site full of electronic resources, www.law.umich.edu/library.
- LEXCALIBUR, our online catalog.
- Skilled help at the Reference/Information Desk from 9 a.m. to midnight seven days, staffed by librarians who also have law degrees.

TECHNOLOGY

- Wired for wireless - Wireless internet access throughout the underground addition for your laptop.
- Power outlets in all carrels and some study tables for your laptop.
- Multi-terminal computer assisted legal research room for training and individual use. Many other terminals placed among the library.
- A Web site full of electronic resources, www.law.umich.edu/library.
- LEXCALIBUR, our online catalog.
